Message from Headmaster

This year, 2020, will be long remembered for the impact of Covid-19 upon the world. In education, we have seen schools closed for five months, an overnight move to online learning, the cancellation of all public examinations and a subsequent grading fiasco by government, and a reopening of schools under 'new school day' guidance to provide something approaching normality.

Although social distancing restrictions mean that we cannot enjoy a Prize Day together in the Hall this year, we are still able to celebrate the achievements of RSD pupils. The commitment, positive attitude and ability of RSD pupils has not been diminished in any way, despite all the uncertainties and interruptions to their education. Working with their teachers and supported by their families, RSD pupils continue to make progress in their learning and, as our prizes illustrate, much more besides. A glance through this Prize Day booklet will reveal not only prizes for academic achievement but also in recognition of performance, dedication and selflessness on the sports field, in music, drama and the arts and in service to others.

For all those recognised for their achievements at GCSE, AS and A Level, it is important to remember that every grade was earned by you, the pupil. Nothing has been gifted. Each pupil worked hard to achieve the grades awarded and the grades are yours by right. These GCSE, AS and A Level grades mean as much as any other grades from years gone by. You should be proud of your achievements and confident about your future. We are certainly proud of you.

SCHOOL SONG

W.F. Marshall (altered)

Sing the good old Royal song, wherever you may go,
Sing of crown and castle and an ancient date below,
Sing it with a chorus, so that all the world may know
We learned the holy Latin in Dungannon.

Hurrah! Hurrah! Dungannon wears the crown,
Hurrah! Hurrah! The castle and the crown,
When Derry was a village and Belfast a little town,
We learned the holy Latin in Dungannon.

James the First of England sat in purple on his throne
When a dusty postboy brought the message from Tyrone
From his loyal planters who were making woeful moan
And craved the holy Latin in Dungannon.

They'll wear Dungannon's castle with a crown above, to show
I'll establish it forever as a Royal School, and so
My citizens will bless me, and their children will go
And learn the holy Latin in Dungannon.

By and by they'll bigger be, and learn to play the game,
To fight their battle fairly, which is the noblest fame,
And into adults mould them, and all of them proclaim
There's more than holy Latin in Dungannon.

Years have fled – four hundred, we've a shield without a stain,
RSD for ever! Sing with all your might and main.
Lift it now, go lift it till he hears it – Niculsayn,
Who learned the holy Latin in Dungannon.

Glory to the good old school beside Dungannon town!
Glory to the noble king, and fair be his renown!
And glory everlasting be with all who wore her crown
And learned the holy Latin in Dungannon.
